reversed the usual relationship of such texts to history; what are usually treated as glosses are here treated as main text.